Description: This one and a half-hour workshop focuses on the role of the medical interpreter in the end-of-life decisions. Some of the most challenging situations an interpreter faces are when a patient is dying, and the interpreter has to be the conduit of bad news to the family.

Learning Objectives: Medical interpreters participating in this training program will be able to:

1. Define what a health care provider is and their role;
2. Identify family members and their roles within the family structure;
3. Describe the triadic meeting and its process;
4. Explain the post-mortem organ donation process.

About the Trainer:

Wilson Pedrazas BA, MM, CMI - Mr. Pedrazas is a Certified Medical interpreter with over ten years of experience working as a trilingual interpreter at Mass General Hospital (MGH). At MGH, he is responsible for face to face interpretation for consultations, family meetings and navigating patient visits. Wilson works closely with MGH International patient office in assisting overseas patients. He assists end of life and palliative care patients by providing competent and compassionate support. Wilson is also a classically trained concert violinist and performed throughout Latin America, Europe and the United States. He is a former member of the Brazilian Symphony Orchestra and Glimmerglass Opera of New York. Currently, he divides his time between medical interpreting and performing as a member of the Portland Symphony Orchestra and Boston Ballet.
